ARE THESE PERSONS THE OLDEST SIERRA MADREANS?—Doris Webster and Charles Peterson have been nominated for royalty to lead the July 4th parade as Sierra Madre's oldest persons who were born here and have lived in the city the longest. Anyone who can top their ages of 74 and 69, respectively, should call the Sierra Madre News, 355-3324.

One of the centennial plans to be culminated by July 4 weekend is the search for the man and woman in Sierra Madre who were born here and have lived here the longest period.

Several names have been suggested and submitted to Marjorie Peterson, chairperson and other members of the City Centennial Committee who have instigated and are investigating the search.

At this point, the committee reports that Doris Webster and Charles Peterson are the leading candidates.

Anyone with pertinent information about other more deserving candidates should contact the Sierra Madre News and those names will be turned over to the Centennial Committee.

Doris Webster-- Native

Doris Webster insists she's been 74 ever since her birthday January 31, but it's hard to believe since her face and bright mind belie her age.

How has she remained so young? The former kindergarten teacher says it's because she's always worked with little children. "They're an inspiration."

The Sierra Madrean in her seventh decade was born on her father's 10-acre ranch at 965 E. Grandview. And in 1912 her parents built the house the Websters are living in now. Then there were only 500 people living here and "everyone knew everyone," she says.

Her mother had come here from New York in 1900 because Sierra Madre "was one of the most healthful areas in the world." The New Yorker put up a tent and lived in the tuberculosis camp until she met and married W.W. Bayard in 1903.

Doris went through Sierra Madre and Pasadena Schools from 1913-'21, then went on to college at Broad Oaks, graduating in 1928 from the school that is now Pacific

Ask anyone in Sierra Madre who Papa Pete is, and they'll know. "Charlie Peterson, that's Marjorie's husband," they'll say. And they're right.

He was born at 73 Suffolk March 27, 1912 and moved to 71 Suffolk in 1935 when he and Marjorie were married.

"The world traveler," Marge calls him, referring to his move to the house next door, and that's where the Petersons have lived since their marriage.

Towner to Help Crime Victims

"Burglary is a probability rather than a possibility," said Dennis Towner, honorary chairman of California Association of Victims of Crime at another of the introductory meetings last Wednesday evening in Sierra Madre.

And for more information about the banding together of victims of crimes, interested persons are urged to attend the March 29, 3 p.m. meeting at the Wisteria Room at the Recreation Center on East Sierra Madre Boulevard.

Towner will also speak April 15 on KPPC-KMAX AM/FM radio between 10 and 11 a.m. for a live talk show.

Delgatto Honored 'Older American'

Joe Delgatto

Joseph Delgatto was chosen to represent Sierra Madre at the Older Americans Recognition Day in downtown Los Angeles at the Hall of Justice.

The Senior Commission, with Richard Hartley as chairman, chose Delgatto for the honor and the Sierra Madre City Council at their meeting Tuesday evening approved the choice.

Delgatto, who is retired, served eight years on the City Council with one of the years as mayor of Sierra Madre. When he was mayor, the fire and police facility was built, and as vice-mayor the new city hall was constructed.

He was director of the Chamber of Commerce for four years while being a member for 20 years.

He is also a member of the Sierra Madre Lions Club, life member of the Rose Float Association and the Sierra Madre Hospital. The recipient of the award introduced the "Citizengram" message for residents of Sierra Madre who had suggestions or complaints to the council.

Delgatto also volunteered hours as a school crossing guard and urged the council to remodel the Senior Citizen Center. He represents Sierra Madre in the Pasadena Council of Aging.

Centennial Plans Progressing

Centennial plans are beginning to jell this week with not only the City Centennial Committee with not only rhe City Centennial Committee headed by Marjorie Peterson, involved but also the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, led by David May, organizing for action.

At press time the committee had scheduled the following activities:

—The evening of Friday, July 3, a picnic in Memorial Park with band concert;

—Saturday morning, July 4, a parade at 10 a.m., from Sunnyside;

—Saturday afternoon, carnival atmosphere around Kersting Court where city organizations will sponsor game booths;

—Saturday evening, Centennial Costume Ball;

—Sunday, July 5, ice cream social and band concert in Memorial Park.

Kersting Court will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday because of activities there. The old red car will be stationed there before and after the parade.

Much of Sierra Madre Boulevard will be closed all day Saturday. Parade participants will be allowed to park in the city hall parking lot.

The next meeting of the Centennial Committee will be April 8, 7:30 p.m. at Rudy Hartman's home. Centennial Committee Chairman Marjorie Peterson urges every club or group in the city to get involved at this point because of the urgent need to organize activities immediately.

Possible Revocation of TV Franchise

Council Plans TV Discussion Meeting April 6

Declaring Teleprompter, Inc. in default of its cable TV franchise, the City Council, Tuesday night, unanimously agreed to hold a special meeting April 6 to declare its intent to hold the franchise forfeited or abandoned, or in the alternative, revoked.

In another meeting with standing room only, the council heard Jim Haas, a member of the City's Cable Advisory Committee, read part of a letter the committee had written to the council regarding the city's cable TV service. In that letter, the committee described Teleprompter as both unresponsive and uncooperative in handling the many service complaints.

The committee's letter concluded with the recommendation that the franchise be revoked.

In declaring the franchise in default the council scheduled a special public hearing April 6, at 7:30 p.m. with the intent to declare the permit forfeited and abandoned.

And in anticipating another large turnout, the council voted to hold the special meeting at the Community Recreation Center, 611 E. Sierra Madre Boulevard, where there is more room than in the City Council chambers at the City Hall.

In introducing the subject at Tuesday night's meeting, Mayor Charles I. Corp advised those attending the Cable Advisory Committee had met with officials of Teleprompter as late as March 19 but that a requested meeting between the City's Counsel, Charles Martin, and attorneys for Teleprompter had never taken place because of the apparent unavailability of the Teleprompter lawyer.

Said the Mayor, "I'm disturbed about the dilatory way Teleprompter has moved. Their actions do not appear to be responsive to the citizen's complaints."

In discussing the resolution declaring the default, City Administrator James McRea noted there must be at least 10 days between its adoption and the public hearing at which it can declare the franchise as forfeited or abandoned or, in the alternative, revoked.

McRea said the earliest the latter meeting could be held would be April 6.

No representative of Teleprompter appeared at the Tuesday meeting. But several citizens spoke to relate continued poor service.

Ralph Schroeder told the council that with the service "being as poor as it is, if any other move taken (by the council) other than revocation, it would be an injustice to the citizens of the city."

A former city engineer, C. H. Barksmier, urged the council to begin efforts to contact other TV cable companies about furnishing service to the city.

The chairman of the Cable TV Advisory committee Jim Ryder informed the council his committee had requested the Federal Communications Committee to take immediate steps toward enforcement of any actions available to it and that it return to Sierra Madre as soon as possible to re-test the cable system as a follow-up to its test conducted last November.

In response to a question on how quickly Teleprompter could terminate its service in the event it elected to take this course of action, Ryder said the company would be free to do whatever it wanted in the way of discontinuing service any time after 60 days following any action the council might take to declare the franchise forfeited, abandoned or revoked.

In opting for larger facilities for its special meeting April 6, the council acted on the suggestion from Paul Swartz that room would be needed for that meeting.

Little League Season Opens Saturday With Dodger Celebrity

Saturday was Dapper Field clean-up day for Little League moguls and practice day for T-ball kids in Sierra Madre.

Preparations were underway for this week's Little League opening day, scheduled for Saturday, March 28, 9 a.m., when "Gentleman Al" Downing from the Dodgers will throw out the first ball.

Mayor Charles Corp and City Council members have been invited for the annual event which sparks off a summer program involving about 125 Little Leaguers distributed among 10 teams.

According to Tim Tyler, president of the Sierra Madre Athletic Association, about 643 youths from the city will benefit from the new pitching machine presented by the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

The pitching machine will be used by all the youth leagues in town, both softball and baseball, T-ball and Pony Colt and Colt groups.

Funds for the $1300 machine were raised by the Fire Department with their annual fundraiser, the Christmas Dance.

Downing, special guest at opening day, first came to the Dodgers from Milwaukee prior to the 1971 season and immediately etched his name in the Dodger record books. With a 20-9 record that year, Downing put his name alongside past Dodger greats Sandy Koufax and Claude Osteen as the only L.A. lefthanders to win 20 games in a season.

He has been active since his retirement from baseball by working as a broadcaster in telecasts from Dodger Stadium.

Local major League teams playing this season are the Dodgers with Chuck Ellis as

Polka dots at Sierra Madre News

It's not an optical illusion. There are two sizes of type in the straight copy of the News this week. We call it our "polka dot issue."

Why? Because we're mixing type prepared by our two Linotype machines with that from our new type computer.

And although we expected our new toy mid-April, it came Friday. We weren't prepared, but we quickly made a place for the two-piece monster.

It's just a couple of simple-looking blue and silver boxes, one with a set of keys and a small screen.

The one with the keys is the "typewriting" machine into which the operator types every bit of print going into the paper. The other "box" processes the type much like a film is turned from a negative into an actual photograph.

It should speed up our operation significantly, at least as soon as we learn completely all its intricacies and assets.

It will be much quieter —it sounds like a game being played through a television set.

And it will be much cleaner. No hot metal falling onto the floor to be swept up and melted down once more to transfer into hot type.

And it should save us a little money, too. That's the best part. Our Linotype machines will not be idle, however, because we will continue to turn out our job printing on them. As you know, our back room has become a beehive of activity, creating busi-personal use, inserts which will be used in our letterheads and envelopes both for business and for personal use, inserts whigh will be used in our paper when it arrives at your homes. That's just the beginning. There are many more piecesd of job printing that we're doing back there.

And our new copy machine stands ready to assist any of you who need a few copies or many copies made of almost any type of paper or cardboard.

The Sierra Madre News is a busy and exciting place.

At tonight's Chamber of Commerce mixer, you'll be given a tour of the wonderful old shop, all spruced at the Sierra Madre News.

It could only happen In Sierra Madre

The past week has been a week of great change at the sierra Madre News.

Not only did we receive our new computer, but our new carpeting and our new blinds arrived also.

How do you stop all activity, move out the furniture and prepare to abandon ship long enough for the carpet layers to complete their job? Well, you just do.

We had plenty of help to move the giant old safe, all the metal desks and chairs, file cabinets, tables, typewriters, lamps and other accessories either into a corner of the back shop or out on the street for our ease in returning them to their proper places after the carpet was down.

Although the carpet layers were to have been here between 8:30 and 9 a.m. they actually didn't arrive until about 1:30. As you can guess, that meant that our safe and cash register were outside all that time.

In our ocmplete innocence, we didn't expect to have a thing taken.

And we weren't disappointed. Not a nickle or a dime, not a piece of paper, not a pen, not a thing came up missing.

Where else but in Sierra Madre could you expect that kind of honesty?

PERRET-SCOPE

by Gene Perret

I love April. It's the month of my birth and it also starts out with a day devoted to fools.

I've always firmly believed there was no more than a coincidental relationship between the two.

Since April begins with a bunch of laughs, it might be an appropriate time to talk about laughter. Several magnificent books have been written recently about how laughter can help overcome illness. I believe it.

Laughter is a sign of health and vitality. In this dog of a world, laughter is a cold, wet nose.

A smile is like a drive-in theatre. Evertime you see one, you know there is something good going on inside.

Laughter is a divine gift. It's a solid mind reliever, a terrific tension cure, good therapy for everyone in a world in which there seems to be fewer things that mirth touches.

No humorist will claim that laughter is the solution to all the world's problems. It's more like Grandpop's whiskey. It never cured his cold, but it did make it a lot more bearable.

Humor is the true brotherhood of man. At some time or another we've all done something that could be laughed at. Anyone who claims he hasn't is the most laughable of all.

Laughter is more than a sound or a facial smile. it is a genuine communication between the laugher and the laughee. Perhaps that's what we humorists are all about. We are communicators in a world of fun, but we never send out without receiving...we never give without getting.

I believe as long as we Americans can take the time to poke fun at some of our peculiarities and see the joy in kidding ourselves, then we can't have strayed too far from what our founding fathers had in mind for us.

A good laugh is a gift of joy. A gift of joy is an act of love. What the world really need now besides "Love, more Love," is "Laugh, more Laughs."

Reader Applauds Home Birthing

Dear Editor:

I have recently become aware of a situation in which our human rights are being threatened. Every parent has the right to decide on the way they wish to give birth to their children and that alternative child birth remains available to us. I am shocked that the Medical Establishment is actually fighting nature!

When I was pregnant with my baby a year ago, I almost made the mistake of letting my doctor "take care of everything." He also assured me I could have natural child birth, although spinals were standard procedure. I was made aware of Dr. Hal Abdul and the alternative his Clinic for Gentle Birth offered. I was so excited that we would be able to actively participate and make choices about our baby's birth.

It was the most beautiful and memorable experience we had ever had. We also shared the birth of our daughter with other special family members. She never left us, she was weighed, measured, bathed (by her father) and clothed in the same room. We were able to have pictures taken of her birth, which we will treasure forever. Would a camera have been allowed in a sterile, cold, lonely delivery room.

It's my understanding that some people feel "Home Birth is Child Abuse," I feel that separating mother and child after birth is "Child Abuse," and puts them both through needless trauma.

I am outraged to learn that the people with power and authority over Health Professionals, are trying to stop all "Out of Hospital" births. And that they are putting pressure on the professionals that are performing alternative births. I will never have a baby in the dehumanizing, unfeeling, and restrictive environment of a traditional hospital. I will only have my baby in an atmosphere of love, surrounded by people who will join us in tenderly welcoming our baby into the world.

I strongly believe child birth should be assisted by a highly qualified professional but not controlled by this individual. We must preserve our right to choose alternative birth and be certain that there are professionals practicing who will offer us these alternatives.

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration.

City Council

from several persons attending the council meeting will result in another delay for construction of a new building at the city yards.

Action the council had taken in February to begin construction of the new fa construction of the new facility was rescinded as the result of comments at Tuesday night's meeting and the matter was referred back to the Parks and Recreation Commission and the City Yards Commission for further study. Sam Simpson, chairman pf the City Yards Commission, in explaining his previous voice of approval to the new facilities, said he was in favor of a new building buit had not seen the actual plans that had been prepared by Councilman Carlyle Griffin prior to voicing his approval. He said at that point in time he wanted what was propsed but had not seen the plans.

Noting that a concrete wall and black topping of a part of the city yards had been added to the plans for the new building, Simpson said he had never approved the concrete wall or the blacktopping.

A member of the Parks and Recreation Commission, Paul Clifton, said his committee was opposed to the concrete block wall that was out for bid as part of the contemplated improvement.

John Govorchin, a member of the City Yards Committee, said his committee had never reviewd the plans for the new city building. He also said he personally recommended a registered architect be hired to draw up plans for any new building and that he did not believe a 175-foot block wall was esthetically appealing.

Without taking formal action, the council agreed the various comments required the matter be referred back to the two committees for further action rather than proceeding with the construction plans it had previously approved.

An increase in the budget of the Sierra Madre Library also caused lengthy discussion among the council members. After hearing from Librarian Mary Tumilty for the need for additional funds, the council voted 4-1 in favor of an additio nal $4549 for the library's 1980-81 budget. Casting the dissenting vote was Mayor Corp who noted the city will end the year with a deficit without expending additional funds.

Consumation of the sale of the old city hall facility moved one step close at the council meeting. The members uananimously authorized the mayor to sign the much-discussed parking agreement with the Bergen Corporation, the purchaser of the building.

Red Hots Go To State Finals

In Sunday's game of the Red Hots against Bonita/Chula Vista (Blue Lightning), the Red Hots beat 1-0.

The Red Hots started with their normal quick assault on goal. Then the visitors from the San Diego area began to get their act together. From mid-first quarter on they continuously beat the Red Hots to the ball.

Regulation time finally expired and it was time to choose a team out of the elite for a sudden death eight-minute overtime. A shot was taken, the goalie tried to hang on to the elusive ball but Caryn McNamee made contact forcing the error with Cindy Gomez there to finish the job with the winner. Defense continued to shine with goalies Missy Coombes and Julie Woodbury still not allowing goals.

The fullbacks Angie Frost, Lori Sutherland, Cassie Garton and Heather Gillissie have also been pivotal with timely saves and some tremendous long boots.

The thing this squad has worked so hard for is finally a reality. Last year, Girls IV All-stars which has three returning players got to this exact place but in the fourth quarter their dream was destroyed by two late goals and a 2 to 1 loss.

The opponent is the same squad they played last year. Winnetka representing Region 29 eliminated Torrance 2 to 0 in a game played on the same field following the Red Hots contest.

The state Division IV finals are March 29 at 1:30 p.m. at Moorpark College in Simi Valley.

New Principal

by Donne Davis

John Hart, recently appointed acting principal of Hugo Reid Elementary School, began his first day on the job wearing a large tin-foil heart bearing the inscription "The Boss."

The name tag, a going-away gift from teachers and students of Highland Oaks Elementary School where he taught fifth grade for the past three years, was presented to him with instructions to wear it for his new assignment so everyone would konw who he was.

Hart, known by students and faculty alike for his dry wit, appreciated the humor.

Hart is replacing John Sinclair who moves into the position vacated by Owen Buskirk, Arcadia's superintendent of schools for the past 22 years.

Although this is Hart's first administrative post, he is no stranger to the Arcadia School District.

At 40, he has spent half his life teaching in Arcadia beginning in 1961 after receiving his degree from UC Santa Barbara where both he and his wife earned their teaching credentials.

For nine years he taught elementary level Spanish to fourth, fifth and sixth graders from all eight elementary schools in the district. Following that, he worked in the Mentally Gifted Minors (MGM) program first as a team teacher and then as the district coordinator.

When proposition 13 discontinued funding for MGM, Hart was offered an administrative position at the junior high level but turned it down preferring to remain in elementary education.

"I've taught every grade from first to adult education and like elementary best," says the principal who sports a moustache.

"There's more flexibility in the elementary classroom. I'm able to individualize my curriculum by capitalizing on my stdengths and interests."

Among his many interests are animation, three-dimensional photography, French, Spanish and music. He has also developed a teaching unit on the history of communication which includes making clay tablets, constructing telegraph machines and telephones and learning various writing styles such as caligraphy and shorthand.

Teaching runs in Hart's family. Both his parents, now retired, taught in the Pasadena schools. He also has a sister and an aunt who teach. Hart has fond memories of his own early education in the Pasadena schools as well as family vacations across the United States.

"My mother had a way of making the most insignificant bits of information exciting. If we visited a small town, she would point out where the first pomegranate tree was planted," recalls Hart. He has visited 45 of the 50 states and continues his summer excursions with his own children who are 11 and 7.

Hart believes a teacher's most important role is to set an example about learning and make children feel good about themselves. "When a teacher's excited about something, a student will be too."

He loves his new job and has "no intention of remaining isolated" in his office. He wants to help his teachers and would like to keep a hand in the classroom whenever possible.

As for the future. "Well, who knows . . ." he says with a mischievous grin. "After I become superintendent, maybe I'll run for President of the United States. You never know what the future holds. When I was a youngster, I used to visit my cousins who lived a few blocks from here and we always played in Hugo Reid's schoolyard. Back then I never dreamed that someday I'd be the school's principal."

QUARTERLY BIRTHDAY FOR SENIORS-Saturday was birthday day for the seniors and Jim McRea, standing center, was a guest. Also standing before the head table are Edna Eukens, president, and Evelyn Holt, birthday chairman. Also seated at the head table are Louie Van Iersel, Marjorie Stephens and Joe Delgatto.

Huck Finn Day Fish Stories and Fun

It was fishin' day in Sierra Madre last weekend and Huck Finn prizes went to 12 youngsters out of a total of 230 who participated.

Christopher Skiles caught the first fish even though it was not a trophy winner.

Winners were announced by Jerry Adkins who also served as official time keeper. Fire Chief Leonard Hall distributed trophies and congratulations.

Kiwanis Club was responsible for the snacks served during the day.

In the 10- to 12-year old division, first prize winner was Scott McRea, 11, who caught a 14½-oz. fish.

Toby Turnbull, 12, won second place with a 10½-oz. fish, and John McCoy, 10, came in third with an 8½-oz. fish.

Eighty-five fishermen participated in this race.

There were 58 children fishing in the 5- to 7-year-old class, and Amy Catalano, 7, won first prize with an 8-oz. fish.

Lucinda Buchan, 6, second prize winner with a 7½-oz. trophy, had her second year as trophy winner.

Tom Sullivan, 5, came in third with a 6-oz. fish.

The three winners out of 42 participants in the 8- and 9-year-olds were the following: Pete Schindler, 8, with a 6½-oz. fish; Nicole Alexander, 8, with a 6-oz. fish; and Charles Clay, 9, with a 5¾-oz. trophy.

In the teenage division with 45 participants 13, 14 and 15 years old, Jim McRea came in first with a 28-oz. trophy.

John Mendez came in second with a 16 5/8-oz. fish, and Joe Osti won third place with a 10½-oz. fish. All three boys are 15 years old.

POLICE EXPLORERS WITH ADVISOR — The group of Police Explorers currently completing assignments with the local police department with one of the advisors, Officer John Cordischi, are Ruth Grassie, Jennifer Tweddle, Jon Nightingale, Steve Vanderheyden, Ken Greco and Andy Sutcliffe. Not present for the photo were Lisa Stroman and Robin Evans, as well as Advisor Roz Ann Sunderland. — Sierra Madre News Photo

The culmination of the Police Explorer program brought Andy Sutcliffe, 18, a job with the Arcadia Police Force recently.

And according to Sierra Madre Police Officer John Cordischi and Officer Roz-Ann Sunderland, post advisors, this is the ultimate goal for many of the Explorers who are chartered through the Boy Scouts of America, Pasadena Council.

Applications are being taken now for new members of the group which is co-sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Young men and women, aged 14 - 18, interested in learning about basic police procedures, are urged to contact the local police department at 242 West Sierra Madre Boulevard, or call 355-1414.

Explorers take part in a variety of duties in Sierra Madre, including assisting regular police officers on duty, performing duties at the station, and working special events.

To prepare for their role with the police department, youths attend a mini-course for police, a 12-week course on Saturdays from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Arcadia High School.

Training in penal code, traffic laws, physical fitness and officer survival are some of the courses they pass during that period. And after they leave the Academy the Explorers are able to schedule their time individually, allowing for the greatest flexibility at the Sierra Madre Police Department.

Cordischi and Sunderland are responsible for their continuous training and for getting them involved in community programs. There's a new program just incorporated recently that includes ski and boating trips as well as the Lasarium Show at Griffith Park.

Cordischi has been with the local police department for a year and Sunderland is completing her seventh year.

Ruthann Hosterman

Former Residents Announce Engagement Of Their Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. John Hosterman announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruthanne, to Dr. Ivan Mefford at a party given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cavalli at their Los Altos home.

Ms. Hosterman is a graduate of Pasadena High School and Stanford University. She is now attending UCLA Graduate School of Business and will receive her Masters in business administration in June.

Dr. Mefford of Stanford Medical Center is a graduate of Kansas University where he received his Ph.D. in analytical chemistry.

The bride's parents, former residents of Sierra Madre for 14 years, are now residing in Los Altos. Dr. Mefford's parents live in Frankfurt, Kentucky.

The wedding will take place July 11 at Stanford Memorial Church.

Miss Piggy, Local Children Observe Library Week

Miss Piggy, that Moppet with the most, as the official spokespig for National Library Week, April 5-11, urges everyone to visit the Seirra Madre Public Library as a part of the week-long celebration.

According to local library officials, National Library Week is a time for "contemplation and celebration --- contemplating a future trip to your Sierra Madre Public Library and join in the celebration."

Although Miss Piggy will be unable to attend the festivities personally because of her demanding schedule, she has given her approval on all programs planned.

To help Miss Piggy observe National Library Week, children in Sierra Madre are urged to design a bookmark with the winner receiving the honor of having his or her bookmark printed by the Friends of the Library.

Children are urged to pick up their bookmark forms now in the Children's Room and turn in the finished designs to the library April 6-11. All the bookmarks will be available for needy library patrons.

"Kids and frogs, unite at the Sierra Madre Library during National Library Week," is the cry going out from the library.

In other observances of the special week, the Masek/Smith duo will perform classical selections in the library's main reading room on Sunday, April 5 at 2 p.m. Douglas Masek, woodwinds, and Jim Smith, classical guitar, are both faculty members at USC. Pieces from Villa Lobos, Ravel, and Gershwin will be among those featured.

Five films will comprise a special program called "Egypt Today" on April 8 at 7:30 p.m. The films will cover topics from oasis life to the arduous labor of humans and animals in a brick factory.

The screening will include "A Drop of Water," by Alma El Barki, "From Philae to Agalika," "Mudhorse" by Attiat El Abnoudi, "On the Nile," and "Pearl of the Nile" by Sami Ouf. Admission is free.

MAKING IMPORTANT PURCHASE—Sidewalk Sale Days drew shoppers Friday and Saturday when the rain took a holiday leaving brisk, clear sunshiny days. Dee Orrell assists two young shoppers, Lynn May and Jessica Marquart, as June Smith looks on.

Overheard at the HEADLINER

by Ann Tyler

Dick Sale, a recent newcomer to Sierra Madre, decided to bring his family in for a "bon voyage" celebration for his son Jeffrey, who is leaving for Aurora, Colorado, to ski, look for work or "what ever." Joining the group were brother Donald and grandmothers, Alma Sale and Bernice Tubbs, from Temple City.

George Leopold dropped in for a quick lunch the other day on his bicycle workout preparatory to his upcoming "sea to shining sea" trip. His plans are to go from California to Jacksonville, Florida in approximately eight weeks. Last year he traveled from Canada to Mexico on his ten-speed bike. Good luck, George.

A hometown boy grown up, Rob Agee, was in Sunday and introduced his fiance, Deborah Fletcher. Rob is in the Admissions Office of Cal State Los Angeles.

Rich and Gayle Hutton are all excited, as are Jennifer and Robbie, about the new cabin at Lake Arrowhead which they hope they will be able to occupy this summer. Should be a lot of fun.

All the supervisors will be on hand to honor the people chosen from their community.

OMS Missionary at Bethany

Mrs. Ed Kilbourne, missionary first to Peking, China and then 24 years to Korea, will speak at the monthly Missionay Fellowship at Bethany Church of Sierra Madre on Tuesday, March 31, at 1 p.m.

Forced to evacuate from Peking as the city came under communist seige, the Kilbourne family went directly to Korea to resume their work which had been interrupted since 1941 by World War II. They were given military permission to return to Korea immediately following General MacArthur's Inchon landing.

Because of their firsthand experiences during this conflict, the missionary's challenging story of Christianity versus Communism in Korea is unusually appropriate for our day.

OMS International is an undenominational faith mission with work encircling the globe. It specializes in evangelism, training nationals, and planting churches.

Dr. Ed Kilbourne, Nanoo's husband, will be speaking at Bethany's evening service at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, March 29.

Bethany is located at 93 N. Baldwin in Sierra Madre.

Trinity Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Barbara M. Stout's sermon for Sunday at 10 a.m. will be "Now I See."

Youth fellowship is planned between 6 and 7:15 p.m. for the 789ers and from 7:30 to 9p.m. p.m. for the senior high-college group. Wednesday adult class, led by Rev. Stout, will feature "Finding Hope Again."

Old Cars Reflect Lots of Lovin', Work

"Old car spoken here" is the answer to facetious questions at the Jerrel Morris home in Sierra Madre. And after listening to Morris for awhile, one realizes that indeed it's a language all its own.

The Morris' whole hobby of renovating old autos started with the huckster's wagon. It's a 1929 Ford and it took Morris from 1957 to '60 to clean it up and get it into working order.

If you think the tip-down wheel is a new addition, take another look at this '29 Ford. It has a "fat man's steering wheel," adds Mary Morris.

He says, "It has a wheel like a T-bird. And it makes a heck of a tour car and you can get a trailer load of junk in it, too."

That one was really their first old car, they say, because they didn't start serious reconditioning of old cars until the late '50s.

Morris' Model A pickup (don't call it a truck or you'll be corrected) originally came from Midland, Texas. It had been used on a ranch and was pretty much a mess, he says. After three years of "lovin', paintin', scrapin', it was finished.

"That's another one I built out of junk," he grins one of his rare smiles.

"The first trip we took in the pickup was to Nashville, Tennessee, and on one of those trips in our cars we take a day at a time. The first day is to Las Vegas, then we go to Zion. About 250 to 350 miles is a heck of a day. When you drive an old car, you never have an enemy, especially the truckers. And we're a nuisance to them because we're running in their lane," Morris states. He got 18 miles to the gallon, he says. After all, the "A" pickup has 42 horses, he adds patting the pickup.

In the fall of '79 they drove the "A" almost 11,000 miles to Nova Scotia and back. Average mileage was 19.3 miles at a speed of 45 mph.

His Jewett shows the miracle of love — and lots of hard work. The 1922 auto was found in Walnut and it was truly a sad case, he remembers. No back seat, questionable fenders, "strictly a dog." To outfit the car, he found a usable rear seat in Spokane, fenders were molded from an old Buick and top bows were requisitioned from a Model T Ford.

The Morrises drove it to Novinger, Missouri later to get it upholstered and a top put on, believe it or not.

From Missouri, Morris remembers, they went to southeast Iowa to show the car to "in-laws and outlaws and what not." Then on to St. Louis on their way to Callaway Garden, Georgia ("right outside of Atlanta").

Colorful Morris explains that the Jewett was manufactured between the years '22 and '27 in Lansing, Michigan and it was discontinued "because nobody bought it. There were a jillion cars built like the Jewett."

Nine years ago when the Sierra Madreans were in Lansing, they could see the remainder of the trade mark on a smoke stack.

Morris was originally a toolmaker, moving to this area in 1946.

When he retired nearly four years ago, he didn't play golf so he simply continued to play with old cars. "The garage is my play house," he states.

He first bought the Huckster — his first old car — because he was building parts of old cars for everyone else. Someone said to him one day, "You ought to make something for yourself."

He saw the Huckster advertised in the paper and even if it was a pile of junk he felt it had possibilities. Furthermore, with a shadow of a grin, "I wanted a Ford that was a little different." And that's why he put in all those years to restore that unique, wooden-sided pickup back to its original status.

How does it feel to put a car together, get behind the wheel, and start it for the first time?

"You don't drive it the next day. Even if it starts there are usually problems. Everybody gathers around offering advice and sometimes consolation. Pretty soon it smooths out and everything works. But I can tell you some horrible things about what can happen on the road. The maiden voyage is always tough."

The 1915 white Model T in their driveway broke a crank shaft and he had to take the auto apart for a friend. "It's not mine. It's just one we're lovin'."

The red 1920 roadster belongs to a friend who's an actor. "Why anyone would have a red Ford — but that's what he wanted."

And they try to help out their friends. They refer to a friend of theirs whose husband had an old car. "When he died, we thought she'd buy a cat and sit by the fire. She didn't. She learned to drive it and is now known as the 'Terror of San Gabriel'. She drives it like a modern car."

Whether they're in one of their old cars or on their own with other transportation, they get around a lot. Jerry and Mary Morris were in England in 1979 "and talked to old car nuts."

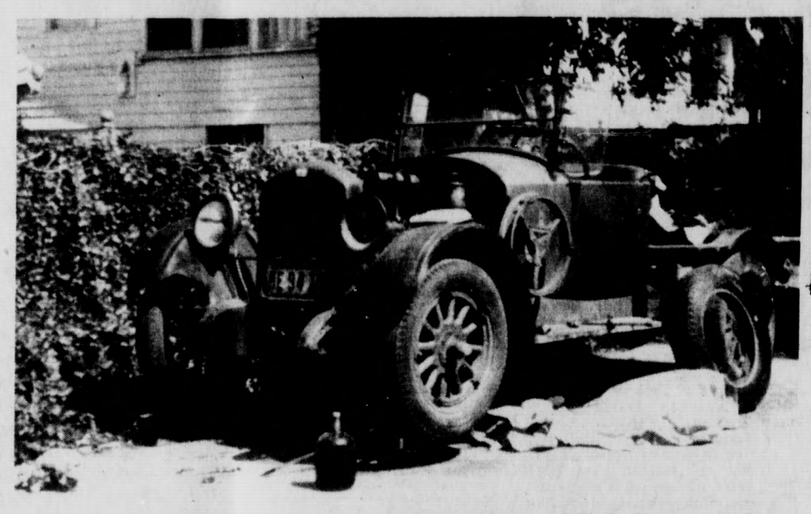

No smog control is needed on these old autos but the authorities do insist you have a rear view mirror and a stop light.

Who gets the biggest kick out of seeing an old car spinning down the street?

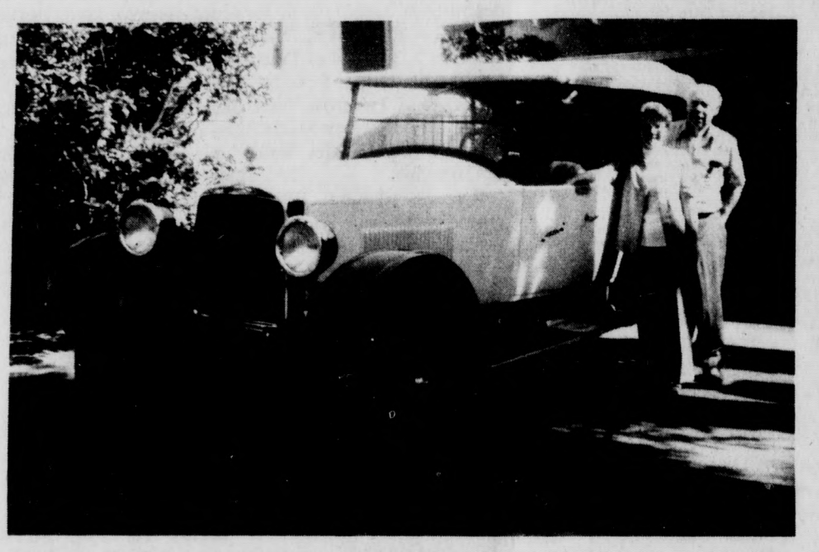

Older people love to reminisce but young people are curious, they answer.

Although they belong to the Model T Club of Southern California and the Antique Car Club of America, Jerry and Mary don't go in for trophies.

If you're zipping down the street and see a funny-looking wooden hearse going down the street — or a large-snouted tan shiner out for a drive — wave. It's Jerry out for a drive. Or maybe he's on his way to another continent.

manager; Indians with Ron Schwartz as manager; Red Sox, Matt Cook, manager; and Yankees with Ed McFaul jr., manager.

Minor Leagues include the Astros with Jim Doolittle as manager; Pirates, Craig Covell, manager; Cubs, Linus Pakulski, manager; Stars, Tim Tyler, manager; Angels, Mike McGoldrick, manager; and Padres, Dave Loera, manager.

Covell has presented a flag that flew over the White House for Saturday's game flag, and says that St. Rita's Junior High School band will play. Father Gara will present the invocation.

The city crews fixed the backstop at Dapper Field, painted the benches inside the dugout and cleaned off the weeds in preparation for the opening day game of the Little League season.

Last weekend also found T-ball groups practicing at the Sierra Madre School playground while mothers, little sisters and brothers watched.

Richard Hedlund, president of the city's T-ball association, said April 18 headlines the T-ball season for the six teams consisting of 12 boys and girls, aged 6 to 8 years, on each team from Sierra Madre and upper Arcadia.

Assisting Hedlund with the activity which continues until June 13, the close of the T-ball season, are Coach Tom Sanford for the Astros; Coach Larry Peale, Braves; Steve Grijalva coaching the Cardinals; Susan Carlson for the Cubs; Jim Dearing for the Mets. Hedlund coaches the Dodgers.

They play their 15 games on Wednesday afternoons and/or Saturday mornings, "twice a week after daylight savings time," Hedlund explained.

Girls' softball teams include five juniors, five intermediates and seven seniors and each team also has about a dozen girls.

There are five Pony Colt teams, all with a dozen players.

The cry "Take me out to the ballgame" will be a familiar one around Sierra Madre from now on.

in Los Angeles. He drove Bodine's dairy truck and was often late with milk deliveries because he and Marjorie were talking.

He also worked at Steinberger's Garage on Sierra Madre Boulevard, and then during WWII went to work at Vard's in Santa Ana, making precision instruments. He stayed there for 28

Even during their early years of marriage after Marge started her nursery school, Charlie participated and helped her every inch of the way.

When she became "Mama Pete" he automatically became "Papa Pete."

Five years ago after his retirement he started working as a crossing guard and stayed until last year.

He was a member of the volunteer fire department during those years until four years ago. In fact, during the war he worked six nights a week at Vard's, then slept one night a week at City Hall to man fire equipment.

During these years, he has rebuilt their home, dug and built their swimming pool, has put together a playhouse that would make any child in this world green with envy.

The Petersons' son, Dan, is an architect in Santa Rosa and has been on the state board for architectural restoration and preservation.

They also have a daughter, Muriel McCormick, who lives in Santa Ana. Their granddaughter was recently married.

There's no doubt about it, it's been a busy life so far for Charlie Peterson, hometown boy.

Crime Victim

Towner originally called on the senator in January after he had been victimized six times, losing more than $10,000 of property and having been beaten by a thug who entered his apartment in Pasadena. When he heard about Watson's interest in crime victims, it seemed the time to get on the band wagon, and that's what he's been doing since.

"I want people to stop subjugating these 'little' crimes," Towner said, explaining that the loss of a stereo can be traumatic, especially since it has happened to him five times, twice from his home and three times from his auto.

He continued, "I got fighting mad and wrote the attorney general's office, and I was amazed that I got a response. Then I contacted Diane Watson and you know the rest."

At the group meetings there's a pouring out from the victims present. They seem to use this meeting as a tool to release the pain they have suffered since the time they were a victim. Several of those present have been the brunt of crimes more than once.

The group doesn't seem to consist of those persons who see "shadows in the dark." They have actually suffered from robberies, burglaries, kidnapping, beatings.

And they want to know how the victim can fight back. "The prosecution has to expose every piece of his evidence to the defense and the defense has to reveal nothing," was one remark.

"We need to see how the judges judge and determine why some judges are 'easy'."

"The victims need to have some attention centered on them for awhile."

"I can't accept the fact that the reason some people commit crimes is society's fault."

These are a few of the statements made at the "rap session."

What are the goals? Towner stated that short range goals are to make available sounding boards for the victims to talk about their troubles.

"We don't have money. We're private people. Right now there are enough of us to talk with the victims and calm them down . . . Much of it is hand-holding . . . What we are asking anyone to do is be willing to be on the mailing list." Towner replied.

He added that victims are starting "to get more creative than the criminals. They are more aware of what's happening around them, less apt to sit back."

The Sierra Madrean explained the feelings of "a guy who's just had his stereo ripped off." First, he said, he goes through immediate denial and says, "Well, that's just the way it is."

Two weeks later he is still bummed and it starts to affect the guy. He's too embarrassed to tell anyone because he won't get any compassion. People would just say, 'Well, that's the way it is these days.' The guy even thinks about going out an buying a gun (to protect himself) and sometimes he does.

Doris Webster

Oaks, a part of Whittier College.

She and her husband, William Alden Webster, were married in 1931 and lived in her father's home in Alhambra. She taught there until 1933 when she retired because her own children had begun arriving.

The Websters moved back to Sierra Madre and during WWII both worked at Lockheed. Then after the war, Doris went back to teaching kindergarten in Glendale and stayed with it for 22 years, until 1967.

The Websters have three children, and the oldest, Bill, who has his doctorate of pharmacy, lives in Temple City with his wife and three children. Nancy is Mrs. Bayard W. Allmond, a pediatrician at UC Berkeley, and they have two children. Bud (Walton Bayard) is a high school teacher at Yreka and is the father of five children. The Websters have a great-grandchild.

Doris comes from Bayard stock, and a Bayard was the first ambassador to Great Britain. He was her father's cousin. There has always been a Bayard in the U.S. Senate, that is until 1943.

"It's been an interesting life," Doris concludes and is grateful she's always been active with a career as well as in her Church, Bethany.
